Carlsbad, CA (Jan. 2008) – IEWatch Software LLC, a leading provider of internet solutions has released WebReplay, a plug-in for Microsoft® Windows Internet Explorer®, designed for web professionals and quality assurance engineers allowing for advanced web automation and testing.

With WebReplay you can fill web forms, automate web applications and upload files, along with many other activities. It has never been this easy to automate those tedious tasks on your favorite websites.

There are two different versions of WebReplay, a Free Edition and a Professional Edition. The WebReplay Free Edition is free for personal and commercial use. Users may opt to upgrade to the Professional version which contains advanced features not available in the Free Edition.

WebReplay's unique features makes it highly useful for an entire spectrum of web professionals:

- Automate repetitive web tasks ranging from filling forms to interacting with Flash applications.
- WebReplay's intuitive interface allows users with absolutely no programming knowledge to create complex automation scripts.
- Create sophisticated test scenarios with WebReplay's scripting features by enhancing recorded scripts or by adding custom actions.
- WebReplay integrates seamlessly with our award winning flagship software IEWatch Professional to gather advanced HTTP logs.
- With WebReplay you will turbo charge your web productivity by automating repetitive tasks and quality assurance work.

System requirements are Microsoft Windows® 2000 or higher, and Internet Explorer 6 or higher.

The price of a WebReplay Professional single user license is US$ 119.00.
